

PODCAST GUEST AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

For the Audiovisual Programme: Talking Hospitality

Agreement Terms:

Ownership and Rights:
Talking Hospitality Ltd (“host”) is the sole owner of all rights in and to the Programme, and the recordings thereof, along with any materials prepared for the Programme ('Materials'). Under English law, these Materials are considered to be assignments of copyright from the contributor to the host. As such, the host (or 'Producer') possesses the exclusive right to use, promote, and distribute the Programme in any and all media or formats and modes of transmission, throughout the world, in perpetuity.

Grant of Rights:
By participating in "Talking Hospitality," you grant us the right to record, broadcast, and distribute reproductions of your voice, photograph, likeness, and performance.

TALKING HOSPITALITY

No Compensation:
Your participation is voluntary, and you will not receive any form of compensation.

Waiver of Approval Rights:
You waive any right to inspect or approve the finished Programme.

No Obligation to Use:
This agreement does not obligate us to use your contribution in the Programme.

Use of Name and Likeness:
Your name and likeness may be used for promoting the Programme but not as an endorsement of other products or services.

Release of Liability:
You release us from any liabilities related to the production, distribution, and use of the Programme.

Age and Competence:
You confirm that you are at least 18 years old, competent to agree to these terms, and free from any conflicting agreements.

Reliance and Legal Action:
You understand that we will rely on this agreement for incurring production costs and agree not to contest the rights granted herein.

Acceptance of Agreement:
Submission of the form on which this agreement is presented constitutes full and unconditional acceptance of all terms and conditions set forth herein. By submitting the form, you acknowledge that you have read, understood, and agree to be bound by this agreement.
